PRICE THREE CENTS

More Than 1,000 Hear Gen. Meloy's Address At Patriotic Service Sunday

"Korea is not a brief, acute attack of a new disease; it is a symptom of a chronic ailment which must be cured," Brig. Gen. Guy Stanley Meloy, Jr., a veteran of the war in Korea, told an audience of more than 1,000 persons Sunday evening at the high school athletic field.

General Meloy was the speaker on the commemorative program marking the 88th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg, sponsored by the Gettysburg fire company. A concert by the Spring Garden band of York also highlighted the Sunday evening observance.

The anniversary celebration, which opened Friday evening, will continue three days this week, reaching its climax with a huge parade of army units, bands, drum corps, fire companies, marching units and floats Wednesday afternoon.

"88 Years Ago Today" William G. Weaver, co-chairman of the firemen's anniversary committee, welcomed the audience as burgh and as president of the fire company. "Eighty-eight years ago today, probably at this very hour, members of the 11th corps of the Union army were running across this very field on their way to take up positions on Cemetery hill," he said. General Meloy's address followed the invocation by Rev. Clyde R. Brown, Presbyterian pastor, and "America," by the band.

"I feel very humble," General Meloy said, "at being asked to try to put into words some of the principles for which men fought and died on this great battlefield; to point out to you the need for rededicating ourselves to those principles and the need for rekindling vital American patriotism and unity of purpose if we expect to survive today's threat to all we hold dear. The battle here was to a finish, but civilized rules prevailed. In three days at Gettysburg there were nearly 49,000 casualties. Since last July when our first troops were committed in Korea, around 76,000 Americans have become casualties in defense of our way of life."

Have Respect for Power "We have fought through two world wars since that time to preserve the freedoms we cherish. We are now faced with the greatest challenge our way of life has ever met. Basically and bluntly, the United States and its friends are defending themselves against the totalitarian dictatorship and communist aggression dictated by the leaders of the Kremlin."

"This assault against our way of life takes many forms. It may take the form of sabotage, subversion, propaganda, espionage, or fomenting distrust of leaders. Nowhere can we afford to lower our guard, relax our vigilance or become complacent. The only law that the leaders of the Kremlin respect is the law of force. They recognize and respect power. They have the utmost contempt for appeasement."

Red Plans Upset "So far the Politburo hasn't needed to use the Red army as such, but make no mistake, where they choose, they will use it. "Americans are blessed with privilege."

TO SOLICIT FOR TOWN CALENDAR

The Annie Danner club members will start Tuesday evening to call at homes and business places to sell space on a community activities calendar for next year.

Miss Wynona Woodward, president of the club, said the activity was suggested to the club by the local Retail Merchants association. In the solicitation the club members hope to interest all organizations in placing on the calendar, at the appropriate dates, activities they are planning.

The dates of the establishment of various groups and business places, and birthdays of individuals should be noted on the calendar, she added.

If sufficient interest is shown the calendar should be a valuable record of dates of activities, birthdays and dates of founding of business establishments and organizations, she noted. CLOTHESLINE ART SHOW IS "SUCCESSFUL"

The first annual "clothesline art show" held by the Associated Arts and Crafts Guild of Adams county Saturday on the court house lawn was described as a "success" by the president, Mrs. A. H. Good, and the chairman of the committee in charge, John Byers.

Approximately 300 articles made by members of the club were on display and for sale at the show, including a number of paintings, which were hung from "clotheslines" placed along the side of the court house.

Hundreds visited the show during the day, and a large number patronized the outdoor cafeteria conducted on the pavement at the court house. Most of the table decorations were sold off the tables used for the cafeteria. The decorations consisted of a coffee can painted in Pennsylvania Dutch style and containing sand, flowers, a glass lamp chimney and a candle.

Auction Disappoints

Miss Alma Cluck demonstrated weaving throughout the day on a hand loom at the show and Jack Mummert, of near Hanover, provided music on the accordion. A flower garden placed in the center of the court house lawn by Cremers of Hanover drew much comment.

An auction of articles donated by famous personages fell short of expectations when rain fell at the start of the auction, scattering most of the audience. A baseball sent by Eddie Robinson and containing the autographs of the Chicago White Sox players sold for $3 as did an autographed collection of his speeches sent by ex-President Herbert Hoover.

A sketch sent by Albert Dorne sold for $1.50 and four prints of the four freedoms paintings by Norman Rockwell sold for $1. A cheese cutter donated by Arthur Godfrey, sold just as the rain hit, went for 25 cents. A necktie worn by Senator Edward Martin brought $1.50. Autographed photographs of movie and stage stars sold at about 25 cents each.

By OLEN CLEMENTS

Tokyo, July 2 (P)—Red Korea tonight urged its soldiers to fight on while the world waited for news of an expected armistice.

Pyeongyang radio repeated Chinese and North Korean acceptance of a United Nations proposal for cease-fire talks.

But the Reds made this clear: They are claiming victory in the year-old conflict.

The North Korean Communist station started each broadcast with this statement: "The Anglo-American aggressors have at last realized failure of their sinister attempt and that is why they are seeking peace."

Communist Tone Stronger

Between news items the Communist announcers inserted these statements: "Soldiers on the front, fight bravely and continue annihilation of aggressors," and "anti-aircraft batteries, aim sharp and increase the bag of enemy intruders."

Japanese radio monitors, who heard the Red broadcasts, said the Communist tone was even stronger than usual.

Peiping radio repeated the text of the Communist acceptance statement last night. The Reds first announced over the two stations Sunday night that they are willing to meet U.N. representatives and discuss a cease-fire. They want the meeting held in the Kaesong area between July 10 and 15.

Ridgway Has Instructions

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme Allied commander, had proposed Saturday that a meeting be held aboard the Danish hospital ship Jutlandia in Wonsan harbor. He said he would propose a date, if the Reds agreed to the meeting.

Ridgway has not indicated his reaction to the Red acceptance message. It is presumed, however, that the U.N. will agree to the Reds' proposed place and time.

Diplomatic circles in Washington said Ridgway already has his full instructions and authority to deal with the Communists.

Ernest died late Saturday from extensive third degree burns, and his uncle succumbed seven hours later.

State police said that Harold, only recently licensed, had flown alone from the Taylor Aviation field near Harrisburg to his father's farm where he picked up the boy. The accident occurred during the take-off.

Harold Jacoby is survived by his parents; two brothers, Eugene C. Jacoby, the father of Ernest, and Arthur Jacoby; and his grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Walters, of Mt. Holly Springs.

His nephews are survived by his parents, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hershey, of Gardners R. 2, and paternal grandparents.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Local Miscellany: The bill prohibiting the sale of furnishing tobacco to children under 16 years of age has passed the Legislature finally. The penalty is $100 fine and 100 days' imprisonment.

We notice several of our enterprising business men and horsemen have placed straw hats on the heads of their horses as a shield and protector from the scorching sun. They are said to be highly recommended by veterinary surgeons and horsemen.

The well on Eckert's corner, the water of which has not been used for some time, has been cleaned by order of Town Council, and again furnishes water to the public. While this watering place may be sort of a nuisance to the immediate neighborhood, it is nevertheless a great accommodation and convenience to the traveling public, especially excursionists.

The Reading Railroad Company has issued orders prohibiting the throwing of rice at departing bridal couples inside its passenger stations. Recently a half peck of rice was swept up in one day after the departure of several couples.

John Kimpke is now the sole owner of the Globe Hotel, he having purchased the interests of the other three owners—Wm. T. and W. E. Ziegler and James M. Caldwell.

Musical Concert: The musical concert given by the Xavier Musical Club, in Xavier Hall, last Wednesday evening was a very enjoyable affair. The music, which was of a high character, consisting of both vocal and instrumental, was exceedingly well rendered, and all who took part are worthy of congratulations. The evening being an exceptionally warm one, the attendance was not as large as it would have been had the atmosphere been of a more pleasant degree.

Marriages: Coulson—Gossick, June 27, at New Oxford, by Rev. P. E. Heimer, Theodore A. Coulson to Miss Maggie Belle Gossick, both of Reading township.

Detrick—Krebs, June 29, at Littlestown by Rev. F. S. Lindaman, George M. Detrick, of Two Taverns, to Miss Mary E. Krebs, of Littlestown.

Moul—Spangler, June 27, at New Oxford, by Rev. P. E. Heimer, John W. Moul, of East Berlin, to Miss Olive N. Spangler, of Reading township.

Plank Presented With A Gold Watch: Eddie Plank, who for a number of years has been the favorite base ball pitcher for the college and town teams of this place, and who several weeks ago signed with the Athletics of Philadelphia, has won the distinction of being one of the best pitchers in the American League. Mr. Plank pitched against the Baltimore team in that city last Thursday, and while the Athletics lost the game, it was not due to Plank's pitching, but to the poor support which he received. The game was witnessed by a large number of people from this place, who accompanied the excursion for the purpose of seeing Eddie twirl the horseshoe.

That Plank is a great favorite of the citizens of our town and vicinity was shown by our people on Thursday, when in appreciation of his meritorious work, a purse was raised while en route to Baltimore, and shortly before Plank stepped into the box, was presented with a handsome gold watch as a token of esteem and admiration from his Gettysburg friends and admirers.

Personal Mention: The York Dispatch of last evening says that ex-Sheriff Wm. B. McElhenry has been appointed Postmaster at this place. Roy Croil, of Kingston, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Jennie S. Croil.

Robt S. Schriver, who learned his trade at this office, and for the past several years has been working as a journeyman, left last week to accept a position on the Ocean City Daily. Our best wishes go with him. Mrs. Raphael Sherry and daughter, Miss Carrie, are visiting friends in Washington, D. C.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ANXIETY

Into the life of us all, at one time or another, anxiety somehow seems to creep. There are many ways, however, to conquer it. The healthy, happy human being dismisses this anxiety as something foreign to it, as it is. Anxiety eats into the very fabric of the mind and body.

That remark Jesus made to his followers was one of his most striking. He said: "Take therefore no thought for the morrow." Today is the one to live and to make the most of. Tomorrows have always taken care of themselves. Worry never put one drop of sunshine into anyone's life!

The world was never so full of fears as now, but that is no reason why we should partake of them. There have always been fears in the world. And people of courage have handled them without complaint.

In my library is a book entitled "Books and the Quiet Life." I know of no other source, outside Nature, that contributes so much to peace and hope as the right sort of books. Books have soothed and brought comfort and hope into lives when all other remedies failed. And books are always around, near and intimate. You can call upon any of them at any time. They become your ever-present silent friends. They smother anxiety from the mind.

The other great enemy of anxiety is Nature. Here you face the eternal verities. In the silence and beauty of Nature one can lose himself and all anxiety is dismissed. Wonders are upon every hand. Miracles are wrought before one's eyes. The fragrance and stimulation of the good earth and the communion with the inhabitants of the wild are things to thank God for, and to treasure in one's memory.

Worried people should get comfortable chairs and sit out under the stars and meditate upon the littleness of this earth as compared with the endless worlds far beyond our imagination. Trouble is never so serious as we think. What a deal of anxiety may be immediately dismissed from the mind by remembering and repeating over and over again a phrase that has always been an inspiration to me: "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on Thee."

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Giver."

HOME LOVER

At work in the evening whenever I pass I notice him raking or cutting the grass Or edging it neatly or using the hose. I'm sure in that way a man's character shows. To him I am willing to take off my hat. There isn't much wrong with a fellow like that.

His shoes and his trousers are worn out and wet, But he is a man to be trusted, I'd bet. Whatever his faults, they are not then in sight. His love for his lawn shows his heart is all right. Without such devotion the grass would fall flat. So, there isn't much wrong with a fellow like that.

I don't know his name or his work through the day, But his lawn and his garden his courage display. I'd guess that his neighbors on him can depend And are proud and are glad to have him for a friend. For him the word "welcome" is on every mat. There can't be much wrong with a fellow like that.

New Pesticide Mixtures Kill Insects, Cure Ills

In spite of the greatly improved pesticides now available to home gardeners, there is no indication that the insect population is decreasing. This may be due to the fact that too few gardeners avail themselves of the improved materials.

No new miracle insecticides are being introduced this year, but there are many all-purpose combinations now available, which relieve the gardener of the need to diagnose the trouble when his plants are first attacked.

These combinations include materials deadly to leaf eating and juice drinking insects, plus fungicides which will handle most plant diseases, so that one dusting or spraying applied without delay will usually end an attack.

Too many amateurs wait until their plants are half destroyed, and then ask: "How can I protect them?"

"Too late," must be the answer. Nothing can help your plants after the injury has been done. A duster should be kept filled with dust, and carried to the garden or frequent visits. At the first sign of insect invasion the plants under attack can be covered with a protective coat of dust.

This should be applied in a cloud which completely envelopes the plant. A good duster makes it possible to blow the dust from below the plants, so it coats the under side of the leaves as it rises, and then falls on the upper parts. Leave a coat of dust as heavy as a moderate application of face powder.

Insects which gardeners can always expect in their vegetable gardens include leaf hoppers on beans, striped beetles on cucumbers, melons and squash, aphids and cabbage worms on cabbage, cauliflower, and broccoli, flea beetles eating tiny holes in the leaves of egg plants.

Rotenone alone should be used to protect the cucumbers, melons and squash. Striped beetles lay eggs in the growing ends of these plants as soon as they begin to grow and their offspring will devour the plant, unless this blossom end is kept covered with lethal dust until the vines are several feet long. A dust composed of one pound of calcium arsenate with 10 pounds of gypsum is preferred by many gardeners to rotenone.

When D.D.T. is used, one dusting a week should be sufficient to keep plants protected. This material remains on the plant leaves, and kills insects which walk across it; but rain and sunshine will shorten its toxic power. It should not be applied to the edible parts of plants within ten days before the harvest; and it should be an invariable rule that all vegetables taken from the garden should be thoroughly washed before being used.

GROWING WINTER SQUASH

Most varieties of winter squash require 100 to 115 days from date of planting to mature their fruits on the vine to permit safe storage. In actual terms of the calendar this means that such varieties as the new Butternut or the old popular standby, the Hubbard, must be planted by June 10 to be ready to harvest the last week in September. Therefore, the advice to plant winter squashes at once is extremely important.

Winter squashes are an economical as well as a nourishing food. Minor costs in labor or materials are required to store them for all-winter use. In many localities supplies stored until late fall or early winter find a profitable market demand in local urban centers. The home gardener adds a fine, low-cost, nutritious food to the family menu by growing and storing enough hardy squashes to last until spring.

What varieties should be selected for home use and local sales? First among popular choices are Butternut and Buttercup. The first named is perhaps the most generally approved vegetable of recent introduction. It is delicious in pies or as baked or boiled squash. Almost nine-tenths of the individual squash consists of tender, edible flesh — the seed content is unusually small. Many growers report that vine borers do not seriously harm this variety. Buttercup squashes are wider known, heavy in yield and excellent to store.

The well liked Acorn or Table Queen squash merits particular emphasis because it can be stored with little thought of overwinter losses. Many persons believe it leads the entire squash group in flavor and texture when baked on the half-shell and seasoned with butter, salt and honey.

Introduced last year is a close relative of the Table Queen, a bush variety known as Uconn. Less space is required for this type because it grows on low bushes instead of vines. By way of information, the Acorn and its new relative belong to the pumpkin branch of the cucurbit family instead of to squashes.

Of course, few experienced growers will omit at least a few hills of the ever-popular Hubbards — both warted and blue sorts. There are also a smaller type known as Kitchenette Hubbard and Improved Hubbard. All members of the Hubbard group require the maximum growing season — at least 110 to 115 days from date of planting.

An excellent way to grow winter squashes is to turn under well rooted manure to a depth of 10 to 14 inches in a strip 3 to 5 feet wide and space plants 2 to 4 feet these after they are heavily infested.

1. Cut out borers with a razor blade as soon as the telltale cuttings are seen beside the main stems.
2. Spray the basal vines and under sides of the older leaves with Black Leaf 40 in soapy water, beginning when the first vines show and continuing every week to 10 days until early August.

A cement walk encircling the veterans' memorial has recently been laid. The memorial erected in honor of all service men and women of Littlestown, who have served in all wars, now stands on the site of the old honor roll, between the Littlestown State Bank building and the Kump apartments on South Queen street. The monument of select Barre granite was dedicated at the annual Memorial Day service held on Sunday, May 27. The purchase of the memorial was sponsored by committee composed of members of the Ocker-Snyder Post No. 321, American Legion, and the Mason and Dixon Memorial Post No. 6954, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and is being financed by contributions from the local residents, the civic, fraternal and social organizations of the community. In the near future the site will be improved with the planting of shrubbery and lights will be installed to illuminate the monument.

ARMISTICE MAY END CONTROLS

Washington, July 2 (AP) — Senator Aiken (R-Vt.) said today an armistice in Korea might cause Congress to let price and wage controls die at the end of this month.

"I think an armistice, if one is negotiated, would pretty well wipe out whatever little need there may be now for those controls," Aiken declared.

President Truman signed on Saturday stopgap legislation continuing wage, price and rent controls through July 31. He acted a few hours before the midnight deadline when the controls program otherwise would have lapsed.

Congress approved the 31-day extension resolution Friday after the House had shelved temporarily a Senate-passed bill providing for an eight-month continuance of the law, with revisions.

The stopgap measure prohibits any price rollbacks this month—a ban which Price Director Michael V. DiSalle said would cost consumers some $10,000,000,000 a year if made permanent.

On Saturday night, just a few hours before the no-rollback law took effect, DiSalle's office of Price Stabilization (OPS) froze existing price ceilings. The idea, the agency explained, was to eliminate all requirements for price rollbacks and to freeze price ceilings which were in effect June 30.

MANHUNT ENDS WITH FINDING OF IRWIN'S BODY

Flemington, N. J., July 2 (AP) — Meek-looking Warren Lee Irwin ended his bloody career of murder, kidnap and assault by firing a bullet into his brain in a rain-drenched clump of poison ivy.

The target of New Jersey's greatest manhunt was found shortly after noon yesterday—sprawled on his back, a trickle of blood still oozing from a 38 caliber bullet hole in his left temple.

The body of the 27-year-old desperado lay about one-quarter of a mile from where he abandoned 17-year-old Carolyn Barker, his last captive, and plunged into the woods to escape capture Saturday.

State police and FBI agents said Irwin definitely killed himself, thus carrying out this grim vow that he'd never be taken alive.

Girl In Hospital
The comely high school girl, kidnapped by Irwin in Washington Thursday night and attacked six times during her 41 hours of captivity, was not told of his suicide. She was taken back to a Washington hospital Saturday night for rest and treatment.

Before leaving, Miss Barker, still visibly shaken by her ordeal of horror, said she hoped Irwin suffered before he was captured.

In Detroit, his tollown mother of 53, Mrs. Marie Irwin, heard of his death over the radio after voicing the hope he'd be taken alive. She broke down in uncontrolled sobs and secluded herself in her room.

Spotted From Air
Two volunteers in a Piper Cub plane spotted Irwin's body almost 24 hours to the minute after he took to the woods in this quiet west central Jersey farm town.

The spot is 10 miles from the former Hopewell estate of Charles Lindbergh, whose infant son was kidnapped and murdered nearly 20 years ago.

His scarred face was splattered with blood. Near his left hand lay the .38 caliber revolver he used to terrorize Miss Barker. The thick, rimless glasses that gave him the appearance of a student were nearby. His clothes were soggy from an overnight rain.

Wanted In Midwest
Seventeen years ago, when Irwin was a boy of 10, his father, a postal clerk, died the same way. He committed suicide while awaiting trial on charges of stealing from the mails.

The greatest manhunt in Jersey history had its beginning in Washington, D. C., last Thursday night. Wanted throughout the midwest for murder and kidnapping, Irwin came upon a car parked near the Washington monument.

In it were Miss Barker and 19-year-old Lawrence Gilbert. He had just given her an engagement ring and planned to take her back to the home of her uncle where a gay sur-

First Musical At Totem Pole Tuesday

The Totem Pole Playhouse, near Pine Grove Furnace, will present the first summer stock musical in this area, "Green Grow the Lilacs" by Lynn Riggs, opening Tuesday and continuing through July 7.

"Green Grow the Lilacs" is the folk-musical from which Rogers and Hammerstein adapted their celebrated "Oklahoma." It is the story of the people that settled the Oklahoma Indian territory in the late 1800's. In the play-party scene, the audience is actually a part of the fun, when they are invited to join the traditional folk tunes.

Jay Fasette, baritone, will sing and play the role of Curley in Green Grow the Lilacs. Jay was graduated from the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music. He has sung with the American Theatre Wing and has appeared with the Savoy Vignettes and the New York Gilbert and Sullivan Association. Harrisburg, July 2 (AP)—Pensions for policemen and firemen in the state are entangled in legislative and auditing confusion today with nobody quite certain what is happening.

Legislators, auditors, and police and firemen lobbyists have been talking all week long about two bills in the legislature try to straighten out the situation. But as one of those involved puts it: "We don't know who is for or against the bills from one minute to another."

Irwin shattered all the plans. He shoved a gun at the frightened couple and forced Gilbert to drive to Virginia. There off the main road, he attacked the terrified girl while Gilbert helplessly watched a few feet away, bound by adhesive tape.

Police Opened Fire
Shortly after, Irwin let Gilbert go after threatening to kill the girl if he told police before 24 hours elapsed. Irwin and Miss Barker spent that night in a small Washington hotel. Friday they went to Philadelphia by bus and then to the Warrington, Pa., home of Irwin's uncle, George Brewer, a 42-year-old engineer. At gunpoint, he forced Brewer to drive him and the girl back to Philadelphia to pick up a bag he had checked in a bus station.

When they returned to Warrington, Irwin pushed Miss Barker into Brewer's car and headed toward New Jersey. Two New Jersey state troopers gave chase. Irwin, desperately trying to elude capture, swung the car into a dirt road, just missing a ditch.

He jumped out of the car calling for Miss Barker to follow him. She ran toward the officers as one of them opened fire on Irwin. He darted into a tall wheat field and disappeared. A motorist took Miss Barker to the Flemington police barracks and the grim hunt for the badman was on.

We blend it with fruit flavors and we age these flavor ingredients for many months until the real Clicquot flavor awakens. Then we blend it with pure Cuban cane sugar, mix it with water that is carbonated ice-cold to give it sparkling life, and put it up in spick-and-span bottles. And oh boy, does it taste good! legies that many other peoples in the world do not have. Unfortunately we have begun to take these privileges for granted. We have even distorted this heritage by thinking of them as rights rather than as privileges."

General Meloy recalled that a year ago, at similar ceremonies on the same field here, General Clif Andrus said: "Our way of life is being challenged by the most inhuman philosophy and system that has ever appeared."

"A little more than a year ago," General Meloy said, "communism went one step further than it had ever gone before. It indicated that the people of the Kremlin were willing to risk World War III. We took forceful military action to stop this Communist aggression. In all probability our strong, positive action in Korea in support of the United Nations was unexpected by the Communists. It upset their timetable and disarranged their plans for Asia. It slowed their plans for world domination."

UN Accomplishments In reviewing the last year in Korea, General Meloy listed these UN accomplishments:

More than 100 attended the annual Adams County 4-H Rural Life Vesper service Sunday evening at the Peace Light Memorial under sponsorship of the County 4-H clubs and the Agricultural Extension Association.

John Kratzert, agricultural teacher at New Oxford high school, told the group, "there are three kinds of workers; the laborer, who uses only his hands; the craftsman who uses both his hands and his head; and the artist, who uses his hands, his head and his heart to produce things of beauty."

The committee in charge of the event included Kenneth Nace, James Reichart, Betty Ziegler and Melvane Nace. Those taking part in the candlelighting ceremony which concluded the service included Melvane Nace, Joyce Ebbert, Betty Ziegler, Glenn Zepp and Roger Crouse. Others participating in the program included James Reichart, Shelby Shaffer, John Todd, Jr., Joyce Yungling, the members of the Pleasant Joy and Littlestown 4-H clubs and the members of the Conewago 4-H club.

BULLETINS

Frankfurt, Germany, July 2 (AP)—Associated Press Correspondent William N. Oatis went on trial in Prague, Czechoslovakia, this morning charged with spying for the United States.

Two official observers from the American embassy went to the state court in Pankrac prison for the first session. Reached by telephone from Frankfurt, an official of the Czechoslovak information ministry said the trial was going on but information about it "can be read later in our newspapers."

New York, July 2 (AP)—Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan today ordered seven top Communists to begin serving prison terms and issued bench warrants for four who failed to surrender.

Ten of the 11 had been sentenced to five years imprisonment for teaching the violent overthrow of the United States government. One had received a three year term. Those ordered arrested were Henry Winston, 35, organizational secretary of the party; Gus Hall, 39, Ohio state chairman; Robert Thompson, New York state chairman, and Gilbert Green, 43, Illinois chairman.

(By The Associated Press)
The twin fury of fire and flood today ripped seven states after laying waste vast sections of forest and farm land.

Flames already have seared at least 85,850 acres of forest. A half million acres of bottomland in Kansas and Missouri have been washed by rampant waters.

Fresh fires burst anew in some stricken forest sections, timberland torched by lightning. And in the flood areas, swollen streams again threatened to spill over dikes and levees.

Nagging Aches And Pains Were Relieved By HADACOL

When Nagging Aches and Pains Are Due To Deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, HADACOL Gives Welcome Relief.

Driving a truck is no holiday. It's hard work and a man has got to be on his toes all the time and feeling well to keep going. Mr. Edward Jakubowski, 1622 N. 75th Court, Elmwood Park, Ill., has been driving a truck since 1919 and has always enjoyed his job. But Mr. Jakubowski must not have felt quite up to the strain of his job for a time because he did not feel well. He had nagging aches and pains and he felt rundown. One of his fellow drivers told him about how HADACOL was helping people suffering from deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron. HADACOL seemed to be just what he needed. Here is what Mr. Jakubowski says:

MR. JAKUBOWSKI SAYS
"For awhile I was bothered with aches and pains and felt rundown. One day one of the other drivers suggested I start taking HADACOL. So I bought a bottle and started it. It has relieved my pains; they've almost completely disappeared, and no longer prevent me from sleeping well. This was three years ago when I took my first bottle of HADACOL. I still continue to take it and have recommended it to many of my friends. I truly think HADACOL is a good product."

Many thousands take HADACOL regularly because HADACOL makes it possible to actually relieve the REAL CAUSE of those nagging aches and pains when due to the lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron in the system.

AND LISTEN TO THIS! Continued use of this great HADACOL not only gives continuous complete relief but helps keep such painful distress from returning when caused by such deficiencies. Now that's the kind of product you have been waiting for. That's the kind you should buy and start taking at once.

And HADACOL's wonderful Vitamins and Minerals come in special pleasant liquid form so they are quickly absorbed and assimilated in the blood, ready to go to work at once.

HADACOL IS SO EFFECTIVE
Because HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every organ and to every part of your body.

You may have tried other Vitamin preparations or other Vitamin and Mineral preparations, so we make you this offer. Try a bottle of HADACOL today if you need Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron. You be the judge. If you do not believe that HADACOL is the best Vitamin and Mineral preparation you have ever taken, we will gladly send you back your money. That's our positive money-back guarantee. You take no chances.
